X-RAY

Is to Be Put to Still Greater Use in Practice of Medicine.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PARIS, April 26.—M. Goby, a French scientist, has devised an apparatus for the application of the X-ray to microscopic work which is expected to have a very important bearing on the study of the smaller organisms. Many of these organisms, because of their capacity, have resisted all attempts to obtain any accurate knowledge of their functions. To examine such an object properly with a microscope it must be sufficiently transparent to permit the passage of light through it; exceedingly fine sections are taken of bodies sufficiently large to permit of this being done, but there are many other organisms too small to cut, and not susceptible of examination by the X-ray for the same reason. In M. Goby's apparatus the object to be examined is placed on a photographic plate without the interposition of black paper. Then by a special process concentrated X-rays are projected on it. A life-size radiograph which, on being enlarged in the ordinary way, makes a very complete study possible is thus obtained.

Author of the Bill Points Out
Its Justness and Meets
Objections.MONOPOLY EXISTS
In Free Trade England and Protection Does Not Cause It Here.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—A comprehensive analysis of the income tax by Representative Hull, its author, featured today's general debate on the tariff in the House. Mr. Hull replied to comment upon provisions of the tax. To the suggestion that it is clean legislation and distinguishes between citizens of large means and those without particular means, he said the purpose was to reach those who

Have Escaped Taxes
and who are most able to bear them. He declared the masses of the people were paying most of the $312,000,000 tariff taxes and most of the state and local taxes.

"Where, then," he asked, "is the injustice of requiring the receivers of incomes exceeding $4,000 to equalize in some measure

These Tax Burdens
by contributing less than $100,000,000 to the federal treasury?" He denied that there was sectionalism in the effect of the tariff. The tax, he said, is fair, productive and cheap of collection. No honest taxpayer has anything to fear he said. Against the assertion that the tax was upon thrift, industry and profit Hull replied that the tariff was a tax upon consumption, want and even poverty. "Victims of our intangible and invisible tariff taxes with all their features of

Spoliation and Plunder will welcome the proposed tax. The receivers of large incomes should prepare to accept it as a permanent tax for it has come to stay.

Representative Kahn, of California, Republican, denied the contention of the Democrats that protection was responsible for monopoly.

"If that be true," he said, "there ought to be no combination or monopoly

In Free Trade England
while the fact remains that Great Britain is honeycombed with combinations and monopolies. Monopolies owe their existence to man's stupidity."

Exploring the Frightful Scene of the Latest Coal
Mine Horror.NINETY-EIGHT IN ALL
Two Men Are Taken Out Alive and They Will Soon Recover.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PITTSBURGH, April 26.—The emergency rescue crew from the Pittsburgh station of the Bureau of Mines was today withdrawn from the Cincinnati mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, where an explosion occurred last Wednesday and almost 100 men lost their lives.

The crew had penetrated the principal entries and had been convinced after another body had been located this morning that the

Dead Had All Been Found
It is possible that as remote parts of the mine are carefully examined by the force of workmen now engaged in cleaning up, additional bodies will be recovered but this is looked upon only as a possibility. However, it is supported by the fact that the latest body to be found was lying in an entry that had been traversed a number of times since the explosion.

Five bodies were taken out this morning and removed to the Monongahela City morgue for identification, making a

Total of Ninety-Three Bodies that have been recovered, forty of which have been identified.

Charles Caw and Phillip Legler, the men taken out of the mine alive last night were

Getting Along Very Well
at the Monongahela City hospital today. Were it not for the fact that their diet after their long fast requires careful attention they would be discharged this afternoon. Members of the rescue crew said today that the men were found in a room just off an entry through which rescue parties had passed and repassed within the last few days. They could not see the light of the Bureau of Mines men and were weak to call.

Tomorrow will be a day of funerals and as fast as the bodies are identified today they are being removed to the houses from which burial will be made. Interment of the unidentified will be made as soon as the orders are given by the coroner.

TWO WEEKS YET
TO WIN DIAMONDHeavy Voting By Miss Shaw
and Mr. Anderson in Districts One and Two."RALLY WEEK" ENDS
Many Flattering Reports Have Been Received the Last Few Days.

Just two weeks from next Monday night and the race for the special prize, a $125 diamond ring, will be decided.

Think of it! Did you ever hear of such a fine opportunity to win such a valuable prize in such a short time? Do you wonder that candidates are working just a little overtime at present to win that beautiful ring?

Well, someone will win it, and just two weeks from next Monday night. Time is flying. Just one extra subscription may win that beautiful ring for you.

And the "Rally Week" bonus offer for this week has stimulated every contestant and they are getting in every subscription possible in order to win a big bonus. The opportunity is theirs, but time is very short, as the offer closes tonight at 9 o'clock. Candidates should get in every subscription possible before that time.

Well, another big break in the voting. Miss Mary A. Shaw is the one to whom honors go today, for she leads the entire contest with 59,710 votes. Miss Shaw cast more than 12,000 votes yesterday. Some voting, eh?

In the first district Mrs. Cecil E. Anderson captures the lead in that district by heavy voting, and has 55,110 votes to her credit. The contestants of the First and Second districts seem to have the same idea in mind, to capture the honor positions.

Miss Wanda Rogers in the Third district and Mrs. J. H. Straight, of the Fourth district, retain their positions at the head of their respective districts.

In the next few days a roll of honor will be published for the busy readers, so that the winners in each district can be easily and readily determined without reading the entire list of contestants.

One candidate, beaming with confidence, and expressing herself in very optimistic terms, yesterday said: "Well, the tide has turned my way. At first it was a little slow but now they come to me with equal regularity. Why," she said, "some people are just learning that it is almost impossible to get along without the Daily Telegram."

There have been many flattering reports received the last few days, and the way the subscriptions are coming in the features of the Daily Telegram must be "winning a home."

Practically all contestants took advantage of the opportunity presented them by the Daily Telegram to attend the Ringling Brothers' circus. All interviewed since seeing the performances have expressed themselves in kind words toward the Daily Telegram for giving them the opportunity to see this wonderful show.

Those who attended the circus yesterday have nothing to regret for the performances were better than ever before.

Now that the circus is over, contestants should lose no time in getting the subscriptions necessary to secure the second period voting values, and at the same time win that $125 sparkler.
